25.05.2022

Dear members of the GSB,

a lot has happened in the last few weeks in terms of events. From 26 to 29 April, the PaintExpo in Karlsruhe was on the agenda.

But there is much more to report! Only one week after the PaintExpo, young professionals from the membership discussed and developed innovative approaches around the GSB and turned the Young GSB Workshop into a great success!

As always, we wish you a pleasant read.

Restart of the PaintExpo

When walking through the exhibition halls at PaintExpo, it felt a bit weird. The obligation to wear masks had just been suspended. The fair had some touch of normality. It seemed at first glance that the pandemic had never existed.

But if you looked closer, the fair was different. The number of visitors was slightly below normal. In contrast to the previous fairs, the trend could be noticed that all those who had found their way to Karlsruhe had very specific questions and were looking for solutions to certain problems.

However, the challenges that were discussed at the numerous booths were always similar. Alternatives to gas as an energy source, compromised supply chains and the general uncertainty on the markets provided more than enough need for discussion.

"The focus was on moving forward and searching for practicable solutions," is what Werner Mader (Managing Director; GSB International e.V.) reports.

Perfectly matching the PaintExpo! Approval of PRELIT Prepas 130-700 Pretreat 6200

Really good news were reported at the Prelit AG stand. Just in time for the trade fair, the positive results for the approval test of Prepas 130-700 Pretreat 6200 were received.

Nico Lettieri (Managing Director; PreLit AG) and Werner Mader (Managing Director; GSB International e.V.) celebrate the GSB approval of Prepas 130-700 Pretreat 6200!

Workshop Young GSB

After a long time in Corona, it was time again for a Young GSB Workshop on 4.5.2022. Young professionals from the membership discussed and developed innovative approaches around GSB. It was especially appreciated to have an insight into the parts of the supply chain that are not part of the day-to-day business.
